

Four Corners is used with selected response questions to identify groups of students with similar responses to the question asked. Students move to a corner of the room designated to match their response or similar way of thinking. (Find the corner with the correct answer)

Four Corners

I Think this is the correct corner to come to because

I agree with you because

I disagree because

Four Corners

I Think this is the correct corner to come to because

I agree with you because

I disagree because

Four Corners

I Think this is the correct corner to come to because

I agree with you because

I disagree because

Four Corners

I Think this is the correct corner to come to because

I agree with you because

I disagree because