

Four Corners is used with selected response questions to identify groups of students with similar responses to the question asked. Students move to a corner of the room designated to match their response or similar way of thinking. (Find the corner with the false answer)

Four Corners

This corner is not true because

Corner A is true because

Corner B is true because

Corner C is true because

Corner D is true because

Four Corners

This corner is not true because

Corner A is true because

Corner B is true because

Corner C is true because

Corner D is true because

Four Corners

This corner is not true because

Corner A is true because

Corner B is true because

Corner C is true because

Corner D is true because

Four Corners

This corner is not true because

Corner A is true because

Corner B is true because

Corner C is true because

Corner D is true because