

Four Corners is used with selected response questions to identify groups of students with similar responses to the question asked. Students move to a corner of the room designated to match their response or similar way of thinking. (Find the picture that represents or does not represent the topic)

Four Corners

This picture represents _____ because

or

This picture does not represent _____ because

Four Corners

This picture represents _____ because

or

This picture does not represent _____ because

Four Corners

This picture represents _____ because

or

This picture does not represent _____ because

Four Corners

This picture represents _____ because

or

This picture does not represent _____ because